Author: _____

for all articles which have been published in the Archäologisches Korrespondenzblatt until 2019.

The signatory transfers to Heidelberg University Library the right to reproduce all his/her articles published in the Archäologisches Korrespondenzblatt until 2018 and the supplied metadata on its servers, to store it permanently and electronically and to make it available on international data networks.

Heidelberg University Library is authorised to communicate the work and its metadata to other supra-regional network database systems for long-term preservation, e.g. to the Deutsche Nationalbibliothek / German National Library in Frankfurt and to entitle the named above use. In addition, the signatory transfers to Heidelberg University Library the right to make such modifications as are technically necessary to grant the long-term preservation of the work while maintaining the integrity of the work's contents.

The signatory attests that she/he is the sole owner of the rights of use. The signatory retains her/his right of exploitation.

The image rights are held by the signatory or are covered through the regulation for quoted images (§ 51 Urheberrecht, German copyright law). The images listed in the attached document should nonetheless be blackened prior to publishing (see list with volume / year / page / image no.; please sign the list).

The signatory author is liable for the contents of her/his work and she/he warrants that the work submitted contains nothing that is unlawful, libellous, or anything which would, if published, constitute a breach of contract or of confidence or of commitment given to secrecy or infringe any other right of any third party. Heidelberg University Library reserves the right to block access to the document in parts or completely if it infringes legal regulations or the rights of a third party as far as these are not obviously unjustified. The blocking of access must be limited to the period of time needed to settle the infringement.

The signed author commits himself to inform Heidelberg University Library immediately, if, after publication alleged or actual infringements of third party rights should be enforced and to release the University Library from any third party claim and to cover all costs resulting from such claims.

Heidelberg University Library does not pursue any economic aims with the publication on its server. The signatory understands that she/he will receive no royalty or other compensation from Heidelberg University Library.
